FOR VIOLATIONS OF ELECTRONIC
FUND TRANSFER ACT, CONSUMER
LEGAL REMEDIES ACT, ROSENTHAL
FAIR DEBT COLLECTION
PRACTICES ACT, AND UNFAIR
COMPETITION LAW

DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL

INTRODUCTION

1. Plaintiffs Krista O'Donovan and Eduardo De La Torre bring this case as a class action to challenge the unlawful, unfair, and fraudulent lending practices of CashCall, Inc. ("CashCall").

2. This is a case of significant impact on thousands of consumers who find themselves caught in the grip of a CashCall loan. As specified in detail below, CashCall's business practices violate numerous consumer protection and debt collection laws.

3. CashCall's website advertises its loan interest rates in California as follows:

Loan amount	APR (Annual Percentage Rate)
$2,600 Loan	99.25%
$5,075 Loan	70.08%
$10,000 Loan	59.46%

CashCall website, Rates for State of California, <http://www.cashcall.com/General/Rates.aspx> (as of June 18, 2008).

4. CashCall makes millions of dollars in unsecured personal loans to consumers every year at exorbitantly high and unconscionable interest rates, the majority of which are in excess of 90% interest per year. In the year 2005, CashCall reported income of over $68 million. CashCall's income included $26,588,635 in interest income alone. In that same year, CashCall reported additional income of $5,508,532 from fees on loans.

5. CashCall engages in widespread TV broadcast advertising statewide aimed at financially strapped and financially desperate consumers. CashCall targets consumers in distress who have limited credit alternatives and are financially unable to repay CashCall's loans as the loan terms require. CashCall structures its loans so that they are effectively interest-only over much of the loan term. CashCall therefore requires consumers to pay its extremely high interest charges for several years, without any significant reduction in their loan balances.

6. CashCall's high interest rates, oppressive loan terms, and protracted repayment time make it impossible for most consumers who fall prey to CashCall's advertisements to pay off their

12. Venue is proper in the Northern District of California pursuant to 28 U.S.C. section 1391(b)(2) in that the Defendant is domiciled in California and the unlawful conduct that gave rise to these claims occurred within the Northern District of California.

INTRA-DISTRICT ASSIGNMENT

13. Intra-district assignment in San Francisco/Oakland, California is proper because the unlawful conduct that gives rise to the alleged claims occurred in Alameda County.

PARTIES

14. Plaintiff Krista O'Donovan ("O'Donovan") is a natural person and a resident of Pleasanton, California. She borrowed money from Defendant CashCall, Inc. in Alameda County, California for personal, family, or household purposes.

15. Plaintiff Eduardo De La Torre ("De La Torre") is a natural person domiciled in Redwood City, California. He borrowed money from Defendant CashCall, Inc. in Yolo County, California for personal, family or household purposes.

16. Defendant CashCall, Inc. ("CashCall") is a California corporation and has its principal place of business located in California. As such, CashCall is legally obligated to all of its customers to comply with the laws of this state, including all California consumer protection laws CashCall violated, as more specifically alleged below.

17. CashCall is and at all relevant times was engaged in making consumer loans in Alameda County, Yolo County, and throughout California, and either was or should have been licensed by the California Department of Corporations as a California Finance Lender subject to the California Finance Lenders Law, California Financial Code section 22000 et seq.

18. Defendants Does 1 through 50 are persons or entities whose true names and identities are now unknown to Plaintiffs, and who therefore are sued by such fictitious names. Plaintiffs will amend this complaint to allege the true names and capacities of these fictitiously named Defendants when they are ascertained. Each of the fictitiously named Defendants is responsible for the conduct alleged in this complaint, and Plaintiffs' damages and the damages of the Plaintiff Class were actually and proximately caused by the conduct of the fictitiously named Defendants.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

Plaintiff Krista O'Donovan

19. In or about October 2005, Plaintiff Krista O'Donovan borrowed $5,075 from CashCall based on an annual percentage rate of interest ("APR") of 59.83%, according to CashCall's Promissory Note and Disclosure Statement. The stated total of payments to amortize this debt is $30,161.86, or six times the principal. The interest carry alone is over $25,000, more than five times the principal. A true and correct copy of the CashCall Promissory Note and Disclosure Statement applicable to Plaintiff's CashCall transaction is attached as Exhibit "A" to this Complaint.

20. CashCall made loans to Plaintiff O'Donovan beyond her financial ability to repay in the time and manner provided in the CashCall Promissory Note and Disclosure Statement. For example, at the time she took out the loan from CashCall, O'Donovan was working on a commission basis and thus her monthly income was not definite. Additionally, O'Donovan had essential monthly expenses that exceeded her guaranteed income, including student loan payments, a car payment, credit card debt, daycare costs for her three children, rent, and monthly living expenses, such as groceries, for a family of five.

21. In light of the monthly expenses she was required to pay in order to care for her family and maintain their basic living conditions, O'Donovan could not afford her CashCall loan payment each month. Paying CashCall back for the loan in the time and manner required by CashCall was especially difficult because repayment demanded several years of regular payments, which was not feasible due to O'Donovan and her husband's inconsistent income.

22. On information and belief, CashCall did not conduct any assessment of O'Donovan's employment, earnings capacity, her job security, her monthly expenses or her outstanding debt when it approved her for the loan.

Plaintiff Eduardo De La Torre

23. In or about February 2006, Plaintiff Eduardo De La Torre borrowed $2,600 from CashCall based on an APR of approximately 98%. Upon information and belief, the stated total of payments to amortize this debt is over $9,000.

1 24. CashCall made loans to Plaintiff De La Torre beyond his financial ability to repay in 2 the time and manner provided in the CashCall Promissory Note and Disclosure Statement. For 3 example, at the time he took out the loan from CashCall, De La Torre was working only part-time,
4 approximately 15 hours per week. De La Torre's monthly expenses exceeded his income, as his 5 expenses included rent, utilities, credit card debt and groceries.

6 25. As De La Torre was a student at University of California at Davis, his income for the 7 near future would consist only of student loans and income from his part-time work. De La Torre
8 thus could not afford his CashCall loan payment each month. Paying CashCall back for the loan in 9 the time and manner required by CashCall was especially difficult because repayment would require
10 several years of regular payments, which was not realistic given De La Torre's status as a student 11 without significant earned income.

12 26. On information and belief, CashCall did not conduct any assessment of De La Torre's 13 employment, earnings capacity, monthly expenses or outstanding debt when it approved him for the 14 loan.

15 CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

16 27. Pursuant to California Civil Code section 1781 and Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of 17 Civil Procedure, Plaintiffs bring this action as a class action on behalf of themselves and all others
18 similarly situated as members of a proposed class. This putative class (hereinafter the "Plaintiff 19 Class") is defined as follows:

20 All individuals who borrowed money from CashCall, Inc. for personal,
21 family, or household use at any time from June 30, 2004 to the present.

22 28. This action may properly be maintained as a class action pursuant to California Civil 23 Code section 1781 and Rule 23.

24 29. CashCall's loans to Plaintiffs and the members of the Plaintiff Class are all 25 "consumer loans" as defined by California Financial Code section 22203.

26 30. The Promissory Note and Disclosure Statements that CashCall issued for Plaintiffs
27 and the members of the Plaintiff Class were all prepared on form loan agreements that are the same 28

1 or substantially similar to the Promissory Note and Disclosure Statements CashCall issued for 2 Plaintiffs.

3 31. Plaintiffs are informed and believe and on that basis allege that the Plaintiff Class is 4 so numerous that joinder of their individual claims is impracticable. The precise number of the 5 Plaintiff Class, and the identities of the members, are ascertainable from the business records of 6 CashCall.

7 32. Questions of law and fact common to the Plaintiff Class exist and predominate over
8 questions affecting only individual class members. These common legal and factual questions 9 include, but are not limited to:

10 a. Whether CashCall's practices violate the Electronic Fund Transfer Act, 15
11 U.S.C. section 1693 et seq. ("EFTA"), including Regulation E, 12 C.F.R. section 205 et seq.,
12 promulgated by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System;

13 b. Whether CashCall's uniform lending and collection practices are unlawful,
14 unfair, and deceptive business practices in violation of the Unfair Competition Law, California
15 Business and Professions Code section 17200 et seq. ("UCL") and the California Finance Lenders
16 Law, California Financial Code section 22000 et seq.;

17 c. Whether CashCall's uniform lending and collection practices have violated
18 the Consumer Legal Remedies Act, Civil Code section 1750 et seq. ("CLRA"), by uniformly 19 representing that the service they provide has characteristics and benefits which it does not have;

20 d. Whether CashCall's uniform practice of employing abusive and harassing
21 debt collection tactics and relying on misrepresentations to collect debts violates the Rosenthal Fair
22 Debt Collection Practices Act, California Civil Code section 1788 et seq. ("Rosenthal Act"); and

23 e. The nature and extent of relief to Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class, including 24 declaratory judgment, accounting, injunctive relief, restitution, and other remedies to which 25 Plaintiffs and the other members of the Plaintiff Class are entitled.

26 33. Plaintiffs' claims are typical of the claims of the Plaintiff Class. Each of the members
27 of the Plaintiff Class borrowed money from CashCall and was issued a Promissory Note and 28

1 Disclosure Statement on forms that are the same or substantially similar to the Promissory Note and 2 Disclosure Statement form issued to Plaintiffs. Each of the members of the Plaintiff Class was 3 subject to the same or substantially similar uniform lending practices followed by CashCall. Each of 4 the members of the Plaintiff Class has the same or substantially similar claims to Plaintiffs for relief
 5 against these practices under the CLRA; the EFTA; the Rosenthal Act; the California Finance
 6 Lenders Law; and the UCL. As described above and below, the claims arise from the same course
 7 of conduct by CashCall, and the relief sought is common.

8 34. Plaintiffs are adequate representatives of the Plaintiff Class because: (a) their 9 interests do not conflict with the interests of the individual members of the Plaintiff Class they seek 10 to represent; (b) they have retained counsel who are competent and experienced in complex class
 11 action litigation; and (c) they intend to prosecute this action vigorously. The interests of the 12 members of the Plaintiff Class will be fairly and adequately protected by Plaintiffs and their counsel.

13 35. The Plaintiff Class action device is superior to other available means for the fair and 14 efficient adjudication of the claims of Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class. Furthermore, because the 15 economic damages suffered by the individual class members may be relatively modest, albeit 16 significant, compared to the expense and burden of individual litigation, it would be impracticable
 17 for members of the Plaintiff Class to seek redress individually for the wrongful conduct alleged 18 herein. There will be no undue difficulty in the management of this litigation as a class action.
 19 Plaintiffs' and the Plaintiff Class members' common claims can be economically adjudicated only in 20 a class action proceeding, thus promoting judicial efficiency and avoiding multiple trials and 21 inconsistent judgments.

22 FIRST CLAIM

23 For violation of the Electronic Fund Transfer Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1693 et seq. and 24 Federal Reserve Regulation E, 12 C.F.R. § 205 *et seq.

25 36. Plaintiffs individually, and on behalf of the Plaintiff Class, reallege each and every 26 allegation above as if fully set forth in this Claim.

27 37. CashCall has initiated and/or effected electronic fund transfers of loan installments
 28 from the accounts of Plaintiffs on multiple days during a single month.

1 38. The Promissory Note and Disclosure Statements relating to the CashCall loan
2 transactions of Plaintiffs and the members of the Plaintiff Class uniformly specify a particular day of 3 the month when CashCall is allowed to initiate and affect electronic fund transfers from customer
4 accounts to collect installment payments and other amounts from Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class.

5 39. CashCall has engaged and continues to engage in the business practice of initiating 6 and effecting electronic fund transfers from customer accounts to collect payments on days of the 7 month other than those agreed to and specified in the Promissory Note and Disclosure Statement.
8 When CashCall fails to collect a loan installment payment or other charge through electronic fund
9 transfer on the day agreed to and specified in a Promissory Note and Disclosure Statement, CashCall 10 thereafter attempts to collect the installment payment and other charges on later days during the 11 same installment cycle that were not agreed to or authorized by the customer.

12 40. These practices violate the Electronic Fund Transfer Act, 15 U.S.C. section 1693 et
13 seq. (“EFTA”), including 15 U.S.C. section 1693e and Regulation E, 12 C.F.R. section 205 et seq.,
14 promulgated by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

15 41. Section 1693e(a) provides in relevant part: “A preauthorized electronic fund transfer 16 from a consumer’s account may be authorized by the consumer only in writing, and a copy of such 17 authorization shall be provided to the consumer when made.” Plaintiffs gave CashCall written
18 preauthorization to initiate and effect electronic transfers on the first of the month. CashCall’s 19 initiation of electronic fund transfers from Plaintiffs’ accounts on days of the month other than those 20 so specified violates section 1693e(a) and Regulation E because transfers on multiple days during a 21 single month are not in compliance with section 1693e(a) when the customer has only authorized a 22 transfer a single date during the month.

23 42. These practices violate the EFTA, including 15 U.S.C. section 1693e and 24 Regulation E promulgated by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, and constitute 25 systematic breaches of the CashCall Promissory Note and Disclosure Statement in violation of 15
26 U.S.C. section 45(n) and the Federal Trade Commission Policy Statement on Unfairness, Letter
27 from Wendell H. Ford & John C. Danforth to Senate members of the Consumer Subcommittee of the 28

1 U.S. Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation (Dec. 17, 1980), appended to
2 International Harvester Co., 104 F.T.C. 949, 1070 (1984).

3 43. Further, CashCall has engaged and continues to engage in the business practice of 4 conditioning the extension of credit on the customer's repayment by means of preauthorized
5 electronic fund transfers. CashCall requires all customers to agree to a provision that permits
6 CashCall to make electronic debits from their bank account.

7 44. These practices violate the EFTA, including 15 U.S.C. section 1693k and 8 Regulation E promulgated by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. Section
9 1693k(1) states in pertinent part: "No person may . . . condition the extension of credit to a 10 consumer on such consumer's repayment by means of preauthorized electronic fund transfers; . . ."

11 45. Further, CashCall has engaged and continues to engage in the business practice of 12 limiting consumers' rights to cancel or stop payment of a preauthorized electronic fund transfer by 13 requiring all customers to agree to the following provision as a condition of a CashCall loan, "I 14 understand that I can cancel this authorization at any time (including prior to my first payment due 15 date) by sending written notification to CashCall. Cancellations must be received at least seven days 16 prior to the applicable due date."

17 46. These practices violate the EFTA, including 15 U.S.C. section 1693e(a) and 18 Regulation E promulgated by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, which permit a 19 consumer to stop payment of a preauthorized electronic fund transfer by notifying either orally or in 20 writing up to three business days prior to the scheduled date of the transfer.

21 47. As a direct and proximate result of these violations, Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class
22 were and continue to be damaged in an amount according to proof, including, without limitation, 23 statutory damages and actual damages, such as payments of interest and other charges collected by 24 CashCall and emotional distress damages.

25 48. Pursuant to 15 U.S.C. section 1693 et seq., Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class are 26 entitled to recover actual damages sustained as a result of CashCall's violations of EFTA, in an 27 amount to be determined at trial, statutory damages, and attorney fees and costs in accordance with 28

1 15 U.S.C. section 1693m.

2 SECOND CLAIM
 3 Violation of Consumer Legal Remedies Act, California Civil Code § 1750 *et seq.

4 49. Plaintiffs individually, and on behalf of the Plaintiff Class, reallege each and every
 5 allegation above as if fully set forth in this Claim.

6 50. The Consumer Legal Remedies Act, California Civil Code section 1750 et seq.
 7 (“CLRA”), specifically provides that “[a]ny waiver by a consumer of the provisions of this title is 8 contrary to public policy and shall be unenforceable and void.” Cal. Civ. Code § 1751.

9 51. CashCall has violated section 1770(a)(5) of the Act by representing that the services
 10 CashCall provides have characteristics and benefits which they do not have, including without 11 limitation, failing to adequately disclose the terms of loans and promising loans benefits which are 12 not accurate or realistic based on the terms of the loans.

13 52. CashCall has violated section 1770(a)(14) of the CLRA by representing that they 14 have rights and remedies that are prohibited by law, specifically that they have the right to collect
 15 debts without providing notices required by law, and that they have the right to collect debts in a 16 manner prohibited by the EFTA and the Rosenthal Act.

17 53. CashCall has violated section 1770(a)(19) of the Act by including unfair and 18 unconscionable loan terms, including unconscionable usury rates and an unconscionable Internet
 19 presentation of the loans, in its loan agreements. CashCall possesses bargaining strength and power
 20 far superior to that of Plaintiffs and other customers. Without discussion or negotiation, CashCall
 21 offers standardized form contracts, drafted by CashCall, which are contracts of adhesion because 22 they are offered on a take-it-or-leave-it basis. The loan agreements are substantially one-sided in 23 favor of CashCall. They are, therefore, unlawful, unfair, fraudulent, and unconscionable.

24 54. As a result of the unfair and deceptive acts and practices of CashCall herein above
 25 described, Plaintiffs and members of the Plaintiff Class have been harmed.

26 55. On August 8, 2008, Plaintiff O’Donovan, through her counsel, sent a notice and 27 demand letter, on behalf of herself and all other similarly situated, by certified mail, return receipt, to 28

1 CashCall, Inc., pursuant to California Civil Code section 1782. As of October 10, 2008, Plaintiffs
2 had not received a response from CashCall.

3 56. As a result of the unfair and deceptive acts and practices of CashCall herein above
4 described, members of the Plaintiff Class who are senior citizens or disabled individuals have 5 suffered substantial economic or emotional harm, and are entitled to special statutory damages in 6 accordance with California Civil Code section 1780(b).

7 57. Pursuant to California Civil Code sections 1770 and 1780, Plaintiffs and each
8 member of the Plaintiff Class they seeks to represent are entitled to recover actual damages against 9 CashCall sustained as a result of CashCall's violations of the CLRA. In addition, Plaintiffs are 10 entitled to recover and seek to recover for themselves any other resulting monetary losses and 11 damages and for emotional distress, which damages are in an amount to be proven at trial.

12 58. Pursuant to California Civil Code section 1780, Plaintiffs and each member of the 13 Plaintiff Class they seek to represent are entitled to recover punitive damages against CashCall
14 because CashCall acted with malice, oppression, or fraud.

15 59. Pursuant to California Civil Code sections 1780 and 1781, Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff
16 Class hereby request certification of the Plaintiff Class, injunctive relief, and attorney's fees, costs
17 and expenses pursuant to California Civil Code section 1780(d) and California Code of Civil 18 Procedure section 1021.5.

19 THIRD CLAIM
20 Violation of the Rosenthal Fair Debt Collection Practices Act, Cal. Civ. Code § 1788 *et seq.

21 60. Plaintiffs individually, and on behalf of the Plaintiff Class, reallege each and every
22 allegation above as if fully set forth in this Claim.

23 61. The Rosenthal Fair Debt Collection Practices Act, California Civil Code section 1788
24 et seq. ("Rosenthal Act"), prohibits unfair and deceptive acts and practices in the collection of 25 consumer debts.

26 62. CashCall, in the regular course of business, engages in debt collection and is a "debt 27 collector" as defined by California Civil Code section 1788.2(c).
28

63. When Plaintiff O'Donovan's or De La Torre's payment on their CashCall loan was late, even by one day, they received phone calls from CashCall employees attempting to collect their debt. The callers contacted both Plaintiffs multiple times each day, aggressively demanded they make payments on their CashCall loan, and made misrepresentations. Plaintiffs were yelled at and threatened by these callers. Additionally, CashCall contacted third parties in an attempt to collect Plaintiffs' debts, including family members, friends, and employers.

64. By their acts and practices as hereinabove described, CashCall has violated the Rosenthal Act and the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1692 et seq. ("FDCPA"), as incorporated by California Civil Code section 1788.17, as follows, without limitation:

- a. Systematically harassing Plaintiffs and the members of the Plaintiff Class by excessive and unnecessary telephone calls in order to coerce and intimidate customers into paying and continuing to pay CashCall, in the absence of any legitimate reason for the continuation of such calls.
- b. Systematically and unlawfully communicating with third parties regarding the loans of Plaintiffs and the members of the Plaintiff Class, including, without limitation, employers, friends, and family members, and communicating information in regards to the debt owed by the consumer to third parties.
- c. Using deceit and misrepresentation in communications in collecting loans from Plaintiffs and the members of the Plaintiff Class.
- d. Claiming and collecting amounts not authorized by agreement with the Plaintiffs and the members of the Plaintiff Class, including but not limited to insufficient fund fees on electronic debit transactions made on unauthorized days of the month.
- e. Failing to include certain debt collection notices required by law in collecting loans to Plaintiffs and the members of the Plaintiff Class.

65. Pursuant to California Civil Code sections 1788.30 and 1788.17 (incorporating 15 U.S.C. section 1692 et seq.), Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class are entitled to recover actual damages sustained as a result of CashCall's violations of the Rosenthal Act. Such damages include, without limitation, resulting monetary losses and damages, which damages are in an amount to be proven at trial. In addition, Plaintiffs are entitled to recover and seeks to recover for themselves any other resulting monetary losses and damages and for their emotional distress, which damages are in an amount to be proven at trial.

66. In addition, pursuant to California Civil Code sections 1788.30 and 1788.17 (incorporating 15 U.S.C. section 1692 et seq.), because CashCall's violations of the Rosenthal Act were committed willingly and knowingly, Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class are entitled to recover, in addition to actual damages, penalties of at least $1,000 per violation as provided for in the Act.

67. Pursuant to California Civil Code sections 1788.30 and 1788.17 (incorporating 15 U.S.C. section 1692 et seq.), Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class are entitled to recover all attorneys' fees, costs, and expenses incurred in the bringing of this action.

FOURTH CLAIM
For Unlawful Business Practices in Violation of Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200 et seq.

68. Plaintiffs individually, and on behalf of the Plaintiff Class, reallege each and every allegation above as if fully set forth in this Claim.

69. The California Unfair Competition Law, California Business and Profession Code section 17200 et seq. ("UCL"), defines unfair competition to include any "unlawful," "unfair," or "deceptive" business act or practice. Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200.

70. CashCall has engaged and continues to engage in the illegal and unfair business practice of making loans on terms that are unconscionable under the circumstances at the time they are made and which fail to accurately and fairly represent the characteristics and benefits of the loans. CashCall violated and continues to violate the UCL, California Financial Code section 22302, and California Civil Code section 1670.5, by making loans at rates of interest and on other terms that are unconscionable in light of the financial circumstances of the borrowers.

71. The CashCall Promissory Note and Disclosure Statement relating to Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class is a form document prepared exclusively by CashCall and presented to Plaintiffs and the members of the public on a take-it-or-leave-it basis. CashCall has grossly disproportionate bargaining power vis-à-vis consumers and dictates the terms of its loans and loan documents. CashCall allows no opportunity for negotiation. The customer must consent to all terms proposed by CashCall in order to obtain a loan from CashCall.

72. The CashCall Promissory Note and Disclosure Statement relating to each of the 1 Plaintiffs and each member of the Plaintiff Class is a consumer contract of adhesion.

2 73. CashCall lends to consumers over the Internet, with the customer at a personal
3 computer, using electronic signatures, document transmittals, and disclosures. CashCall uniformly
4 requires consumers to apply for and execute loan documents electronically. A customer must have 5 access to a personal computer in order to fill out and transmit the loan application and 6 documentation forms required by CashCall in order to obtain a CashCall loan. CashCall does not 7 lend money based on paper transactions.

8 74. CashCall's Internet presentation to consumers of the CashCall loan application and 9 documentation forms required to obtain a CashCall loan, including the CashCall Promissory Note
10 and Disclosure Statement, does not allow the consumer a fair opportunity to review the documents, 11 as a borrower would ordinarily have if presented with a loan application and documentation forms in 12 a paper format. Because the forms are presented in a constricted Internet browser window format, 13 consumers do not have a fair opportunity to review the application forms and loan documentation
14 before completing the loan application process. To the extent that CashCall may allow consumers to 15 print these forms out before completing the application process, CashCall does not conspicuously 16 disclose that option, or require that consumers do so and read the documents before completing the 17 process.

18 75. Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class were presented with the CashCall Promissory Note
19 and Disclosure Statement in small bits and pieces on a computer screen. This presentation does not 20 clearly and conspicuously present the rate of interest, the APR, the required Truth in Lending
21 Disclosures, or the term of the loan. A reasonable consumer would not see, register, and understand 22 these provisions due to the limitations of presentation on a computer screen. Plaintiffs and the 23 Plaintiff Class did not see, register, and/or understand these features of CashCall loans.

24 76. As a result of CashCall's Internet presentation, Plaintiffs did not register or 25 understand the loan terms and disclosures.

26 77. The Internet presentation of the CashCall Promissory Note and Disclosure Statement
27 to Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class is markedly one-sided and presents a distorted picture of the loans
28

1 CashCall offers. CashCall's Internet presentation does not bring home to consumers: (a) the length
2 of time that CashCall loans are effectively interest only, that is, two to four years before there is any 3 appreciable principal reduction, or (b) that the interest the consumer must pay typically costs three to 4 five times the amount that the consumer receives from CashCall.

5 78. CashCall's business practices are unfair because they deceive and mislead consumers
6 by inducing them to sign a Promissory Note and Disclosure Statement through an Internet 7 presentation which is one sided and does not effectively communicate to a reasonable consumer the 8 critical terms of the loan.

9 79. Plaintiffs and the members of the Plaintiff Class were unable to understand the 10 ramifications of CashCall's amortization of the loans, and to realize the full cost and unfairness of 11 the financial obligation CashCall's loans purport to impose on Plaintiffs and the members of the 12 Plaintiff Class. As a result of a presentation of loan terms and disclosures in an unconscionable
13 format, CashCall violated California Financial Code section 22302.

14 80. CashCall's practices are further illegal, unfair, and unconscionable business practices
15 because they involve making and collecting loans at exorbitant interest rates on amortization
16 schedules that require borrowers to repay CashCall at least twice the amount borrowed before 17 reducing substantial principal, requiring borrowers to repay CashCall from three to five times the 18 amount of the loan, and requiring repayment over an inordinate amount of time. These practices
19 offend public policy, are unconscionable, oppressive and unscrupulous, and cause substantial injury
20 to consumers.

21 81. CashCall targets consumers experiencing serious, if not altogether desperate,
22 financial challenges. Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class have obtained CashCall loans at exorbitantly
23 high interest rates and on such unfavorable loan terms because, in their financial circumstances,
24 credit alternatives on more favorable terms are not practically available to them in the marketplace.
25 A significant percentage of consumers default on CashCall loans, and the percentage of customers
26 CashCall pursues with collectors is extremely high.

27 82. The harm suffered by Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class as a result of the 28

1 extraordinarily oppressive nature of CashCall loan terms greatly outweighs what value, if any, they
2 receive as a result of the initial CashCall loan.

3 83. CashCall's practices are further illegal, unfair, and unconscionable because CashCall
4 engages in predatory lending practices including, but not limited to, the use of high pressure sales
5 tactics and failing to consider a consumer's ability to repay a loan.

6 84. The loans made to Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class are void and not enforceable
7 because they are unlawful, unfair, and unconscionable in violation of California Financial Code
8 section 22302 and California Civil Code section 1670.5, as well as the UCL.

9 85. In making and administering their loans to Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class, CashCall
10 willfully violated California Financial Code section 22302 and California Civil Code section 1670.5.

11 86. Further, CashCall has engaged and continues to engage in business practices that 12 violate California Financial Code section 22320. Section 22320 provides in relevant part: "[A] fee
13 not to exceed fifteen dollars ($15) for the return by a depository institution of a dishonored check,
14 negotiable order of withdrawal, or share draft may be charged and collected by the licensee."
15 Section 22320 allows insufficient fund fees only in the case of dishonored checks and similar written 16 payment instruments returned unpaid by depository institutions.

17 87. CashCall collects insufficient fund fees whenever CashCall's requests for an 18 electronic fund transfer of a loan installment payment or other charge from a customer account is not 19 satisfied. CashCall has charged and collected at least one insufficient fund fee from both Plaintiffs 20 based on attempted electronic fund transfers initiated by CashCall in order to obtain payment of 21 installments and other charges from Plaintiffs' bank accounts.

22 88. In making and administering their loans to Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class, CashCall
23 willfully violated California Financial Code section 22320.

24 89. Further, in making loans to Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class, CashCall made loans
25 beyond their financial ability to pay in the time and manner provided in the Promissory Note and 26 Disclosure Statement, in violation of 10 C.C.R. section 1452, a regulation promulgated under the 27 California Finance Lenders Law, pursuant to California Financial Code section 22150, which states, 28

1 “When making or negotiating loans, a finance company shall take into consideration, in determining
2 the size and duration thereof, the financial ability of the borrowers to repay the same, to the end that
3 the borrowers should be reasonably to repay said loans in the time and manner provided in the loan
4 contracts.” 10 C.C.R. § 1452.

5 90. In making and administering their loans to Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class, CashCall
6 willfully violated California Financial Code section 22150 and 10 C.C.R. section 1452.

7 91. As a result of these violations and unfair business practices, Plaintiffs suffered injury
8 in fact and lost money and property, including but not limited to payments of interest and other 9 charges collected by CashCall on loans made in violation of these laws.

10 92. Pursuant to California Business and Professions Code section 17200 et seq., Plaintiffs
11 and the Plaintiff Class are entitled to enjoin the practice of making unconscionable loans and of 12 harassing debt collection, and to obtain restitution of all funds obtained by CashCall by reason of 13 and through the use of these unlawful, unfair, or fraudulent acts and practices.

14 FIFTH CLAIM
15 For Unlawful and Unfair Business Practices in Violation of 16 Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200 *et seq.

17 93. Plaintiffs individually, and on behalf of the Plaintiff Class, reallege each and every
18 allegation above as if fully set forth in this Claim.

19 94. CashCall’s business practices in making and collecting loans are unlawful business
20 practices in violation of the UCL because they violate, without limitation, EFTA, the Rosenthal Act,
21 and the CLRA, as described above.

22 95. As a result of these violations and unlawful business practices, Plaintiffs suffered
23 injury in fact and lost money and property, including but not limited to payments of interest and
24 other charges collected by CashCall on loans made in violation of these laws.

25 96. Pursuant to California Business and Professions Code section 17203, Plaintiffs,
26 individually, and on behalf of all members of the Plaintiff Class, and the general public who are,
27 have been or may be, subjected to the practices of CashCall in violation of section 17200, hereby 28 request injunctive relief prohibiting these practices in the future, and such other orders as may be

1 necessary to restore to any person in interest, any money or property, real or personal, which may
 2 have been acquired by CashCall by means of this unlawful, unfair and fraudulent business practice,
 3 or to disgorge profits CashCall have earned thereby.

4 SIXTH CLAIM
For Unlawful Fraudulent and Unfair Business Practices in Violation of
Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200 et seq.

6 97. Plaintiffs individually, and on behalf of the Plaintiff Class, reallege each and every
 7 allegation above as if fully set forth in this Claim.

8 98. CashCall's marketing, sale, and collection of its loans are fraught with material
 9 misrepresentations and omissions that are likely to deceive consumers and violate the UCL.

10 99. In its dealings with Plaintiffs and members of the Plaintiff Class, CashCall failed and 11 continues to fail to accurately represent the characteristics and benefits of the loans they provide.
 12 Among other things, CashCall promotes its loans as short term loans and fails to disclose adequately 13 the fact that consumers will have to pay back more than three times what they borrow.

14 100. CashCall's agreements with consumers also misrepresent that CashCall has rights
 15 with respect to collection of debts that are in fact prohibited by law. In particular, CashCall
 16 misrepresents that it has a right to condition its loans on consumers' authorization to direct debits
 17 from their bank accounts to repay the loans. On information and belief, CashCall also routinely 18 makes misrepresentations to consumers in its attempts to make consumers pay the usurious terms of 19 the loans.

20 101. These are material misrepresentations and omissions that are likely to deceive 21 consumers, likely to induce consumers to misunderstand the material loan terms, and/or likely to 22 induce a consumer to agree to a loan.

23 102. As a result of these unlawful and fraudulent business practices, Plaintiffs suffered
 24 injury in fact and lost money and property, including but not limited to payments of interest and
 25 other charges collected by CashCall on loans made in violation of these laws.

26 103. Pursuant to California Business and Professions Code section 17200 et seq., Plaintiffs 27 are entitled to enjoin the practice of making unconscionable loans, of harassing debt collection and 28

1 to obtain restitution of all funds obtained by CashCall by reason of and through the use of these 2 unlawful, unfair, or fraudulent acts and practices.

3 104. Pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 1021.5, Plaintiffs are entitled to recover
 4 their reasonable attorney's fees, costs, and expenses incurred in bringing this action.

5 RELIEF SOUGHT

6 Plaintiffs request the following relief for themselves and on behalf of the Plaintiff Class:

7 1. An order certifying the Plaintiff Class under California Code of Civil Procedure
 8 section 382 and California Civil Code section 1781, and appointing Plaintiffs and their counsel to 9 represent the Plaintiff Class;

10 2. A declaration of the rights of Plaintiffs and of the Plaintiff Class with respect to 11 CashCall under the California Finance Lenders Law and its regulations, an accounting to bring their 12 loans into compliance with the California Finance Lenders Law and its regulations, restitution of all 13 monies collected and/or charged by CashCall from Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class in violation of 14 the California Finance Lenders Law and its regulations with prejudgment interest to date, and 15 injunctive relief against CashCall threatened and ongoing violations of the California Finance
 16 Lenders Law and its regulations, as more particularly set forth above;

17 3. Restitution of all monies wrongfully charged to and/or collected from Plaintiffs and 18 the Plaintiff Class in violation of the UCL with prejudgment interest to date, and injunctive relief
 19 against CashCall for violation of the UCL, as more particularly set forth above;

20 4. Actual and statutory damages to Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class for violations of 21 EFTA, the Rosenthal Act, and the CLRA.

22 5. Punitive damages to Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class according to proof at trial;

23 6. Attorneys fees and expenses of litigation to the extent provided by law;

24 7. Costs of suit; and

25 8. Such other and further legal and equitable relief as this Court may deem proper.
